(ivil Rights-Public Documents-The Franking Privilege - Amendment of the House Salary Bill.

They were drifting into centralism so steadily that before long the States would bear the same relation to the general government as the counties now had to the States. He objected to this hill because such coercive legislation as would force colored children into the same schools with white children would not operate to the benefit of the colored people, but to their positive injury. It might not affect gentlemen who could send their children as private schools, but it would drive away industrious poor people who objected to their children associating with colored children, and would injure the States and break up the punito-school system there.

Mr. Rahy advocated the bill. They were not seeking social equality. He and the men of his race preferred to choose their own associates. They wanted this law effected so that they should be recognized as other men. Why could not negro members of congress enjoy the same rights and immunities in hotels as a white member of congress. Why should they not have the right to go into restaurants without being insulted. The members of he The Rankrupt Law-The House Resolution to Adjourn Agreed to-Clayton on the Levee . Question.

that when this ship, the Trimountain, of New York, name up, a few hours afterward, the gentlemen desired that we should come on board. Captain Surmout gave the necessary orders, and the twenty-six passengers and afty-nine officers and crew of the Ville de Havre were transferred here. We have been on board five days, and hope to reach Cardin next alonday. Captain Urquhart, of this vessel, is a movie hearted man from Resex, connectient, and is as kind and generous as possible to us. We are destitute—have neither cisthes nor money—but all the gentlemen passengers act as if they were our natural projectors, and our common suffering make the ladies feel as sisters; rescued from the very have of death, we have much yet to thank God for. I dare not say a word about my own sorrow, or I could not find attempt to write. All the passengers are going to Parls, and as soon as possible I will return home by one of the Cunard line.
